We all take risks everyday. What sort of risks do you take? What makes them acceptable or unacceptable to you? Where would YOU draw the line? Are there things that could be done to make the risks that you take safer? Are there areas that you need to take more risks in? Risks could be...

- Crossing the road
- Taking illegal substances
- Eating something that’s passed its date
- Trying something new
- Having under age sex
- Hitting someone in temper
- Driving when drunk
- Grassing on a mate
- Meeting someone from the internet
- Asking someone to be your friend
- Sharing something that’s worrying you
